
19th Young Economists' Convention Presents: YOUNG ECONOMISTS POLICY INITIATIVE

Industry 4.0 and the Future of Work: Empowering
Labor in the Post-Pandemic World

Apply as a participant (see YEPI prospectus) and/or join the convention

Partnered With

De La Salle University

AKI

Angelo King Institute
for Economic and Business Studies

Mission & Vision

Cultivating Economic Mastery and Leadership Potential of the Youth.

The YEC is a catalyst of promoting and endorsing awareness regarding prevalent economic issues. It aims to move towards greater relevance for other young nation builders, while remaining true to the convention's economic roots.

BRIEF HISTORY OF YEC

2001

YEC was founded by the late Dr. Ponciano, Jr., with the support of the late Bro. Andrew Gonzales, F.S.C.

2001

The 1s YEC initiative was a simple panel discussion among a few administrators, students, officials, and educators. YEC was still managed by DLSU-AKI.

2007

The International Conference, initially an effort by the School of Economics Government (SEG), was born. SEG partnered up with EconOrg in this initiative.

2012

The dawn of YEC's "Golden Age" emerged. YEC and EconOrg became one central committee, and YEC was managed closer by EconOrg.

2020

Still being funded by DLSU-AKI with its current Director, Dr. Tereso Tullao Jr., YEC is now one of the longest-running student-led academic initiatives in DLSU.

Young Economists Policy Initiative (YEPI)

A policy initiative for young economists around the country relating to the relevant economic issues of today. The YEPI contest allows for contestants to consult with field experts on how to refine their initiative, and get a chance to be published. The YEPI Convention showcases the fruits of the competition, aside from talks from nationally-acclaimed speakers.

De La Salle University
AKI
Angelo King Institute
for Economic and Business Studies

What's in store if you join?

YEPI Competition

- Present your policy initiative and compete with young economists from all over the country
- Consult from field experts and professionals to refine your initiative
- Get the chance to win up to PHP 15,000 as well as publication support from the DLSU Angelo King Institute

YEPI Convention

- Listen in on the top 3 policy proposals of the young economists of today
- Learn from experts of the field who will be speaking during the convention

Interested?

See YEPI Prospectus to join as a participant.

Reply to your YEC
representative to be notified
on when the pre-registration for the convention begins.

Find us on:

Website:

<https://www.dlsueconorg.com/yec>

Facebook:

<https://www.facebook.com/theYECdlsu>

